

HUERTA TO RESIGN AS MEXICAN RULER

Is Persistent Rumor in Official Circles in His Capital.

Inability to Raise Funds Shakes His Faith in Future.

(By Times Special Wire). Mexico City, Jan. 6.—That General Huerta intends to resign from the Presidency in the near future—a report often denied by him in the most emphatic terms—is again being persistently circulated in the capital. It is said that he will take his place among the rebels, after selling the country to them. Uncle Tom, as Senator George S. Boutwell has called him, is the man who will be selected as his successor, according to the understanding.

General Gómez has asked to be relieved of his portfolio, which is regarded as leading color to the report, of which confirmation from any authoritative source has been impossible so far, it is said to have been offered

And Are Said to Hold Law at Defiance.

That he had walked to Burlington in search of a position as a farm hand, only to find that the position advertised had been filled, George Davis, aged about 40 years, was picked up in an exhausted state near the Salvation Army, metropolitan, Merrick Street, yesterday. He said that he had only one sandwich during his trip, and that he was on his way back to the west end, where he had been staying, when found. He was taken in charge by the Salvation Army authorities, who had him removed to the hospital for medical attention.

(By Times Special Wire) New York, Jan. 6.—At 1 o'clock this morning the following bulletin in reference to the condition of Sir James Whitney was issued at the Hotel Manhattan by Drs. Pyne and Biggs:

"Patient about the same as yesterday. Passed a comfortable night."

ATTENDANTS HOPEFUL.

While those in attendance on Sir James Whitney this morning did not minimize the serious condition the attack of colic trouble had placed him in, and while they admitted that, with a man so advanced in age, the worst was always to be expected, they were most sanguine. Throughout the stages of the disease the medical attendants at the Hotel Manhattan, the Prime Minister put up a plucky fight, though somewhat less tenacious than the advice of his medical attendants.

Sir James was acquainted with the serious nature of the trouble affecting him, and knew with the stages of the disease he was in.

It had been hoped by his wife and those looking after him that his condition would improve rapidly, but Toronto, and a special car was chartered, which could be attached to a train, and carried through to the east end, to recover the payments on two lots for ten months, with interest. The case will be rather interesting.

SIR JAMES' WIFE.

Canadian resident in New York, and American friends of the Premier were present throughout last evening and this morning as to his condition.

The strictest injunctions have been given upon those attending him to keep him from doing any work in any way. The position of his suite in the Hotel Manhattan is ideal, Sir James' windows overlooking a quiet court.

Complaints were held last evening and this morning between Dr. Pyne, Sir James' own physician, who has been travelling with him, and Mr. Andrew, the special, called in when the Premier's condition gave cause for alarm on Sunday.

Things were extremely reticent, the occurrence of the phlegm in the intestinal canal last night, which was taken by those around the Prime Minister to indicate that any optimism felt should be very much qualified.

Mr. Andrew, who is the son of Mr. Andrew, who was the sensational story that was circulated in Ontario on Sunday that the Premier was ill and would die, was not able to say, to say, and went willingly with the officer. It is said that up to a week ago he was in full possession of his faculties.

The Toronto police were notified of the affair, and this morning Detective Cronin arrived to take his prisoner back.

Surveyor to Report About Scales at Stoney Creek.

What Ontario Western Co-operative Fruit Company, which some months ago applied to the County of Wentworth to force J. A. Lottidge to remove scales from in front of their property, which, it was alleged, were on county highway, had left the district unbroken, because he was not allowed to do so, and claimed whether the property on which the scales were located was county highway or not. They said that they had written to the county, and had written to the county again demanding that action be taken, but had the scales removed.

The surveyor will examine the property and will make a report to the County Council.

It is confirmed in diplomatic circles that Enzo Pasha has orga-

It is feared that Turkish troops, headed by well-known chieftains, will endeavor to effect a landing on the Albanian coast for the purpose of bringing about this intention.

SAYS 75 DIED

In Uninvestigated Tragedy of Fraser River.

(By Times Special Wire).

Winnipeg, Man., Jan. 6.—Suffering from injuries received in a wreck on the Fraser River, which he claims fifty-five men lost their lives, Angelo Puglisi, applicant for an immigration officer's visa for Italy, said:

Some time ago Puglisi, seafaring with the Grand Trunk Pacific, was sent with many others to the end of steel in British Columbia. For a time he was kept busy in the vicinity of Fort George, but in November, when about 100 other laborers were sent to the end of the trip requiring the party to cross the Fraser River. In spite of the swift current, the boat, which was loaded into a large boat for the trip across, navigation was difficult, the boat became unmanageable, and crashed into a large iron bridge, which was carrying a small craft. The strength of the current made swimming impossible, and the struggling men were dashed to death on the rocks, and many were drowned in the fast flowing flood. Of five score men that boarded the boat, only 25 were taken from the water alive, and 25 were injured, all receiving cuts and abrasions, only five bodies were ever recovered, according to Puglisi. Puglisi, 36 years old, was severely cut and had his feet badly injured. He was in the hospital in Edmonton for some time. Puglisi stated no inquiry of any kind had been made as to the cause of the accident.

LANDED IN CELLS

Six Months for Luxford on Theft Charges.

The disappearance of a package of macaroni from the wagon of Emilio Escapacio, east end grocer, took up considerable of the magistrate's time this morning. Puglisi had brought with him a package of Italian delicacy. He was informed by several boarders in a house that he visited that Ackman was Sigmafornio a fellow countryman was the guilty party. Accordingly he secured a warrant for Ackman's arrest.

When the constable went to the prisoner's home he found him in bed, and told him to bring the macaroni with him and the man went into the kitchen and produced a small pal containing some. He did not understand what he was being arrested for, and said that he had eaten the food.

The constable then took him to the station, where he was charged with breaking and entering, and was led to eat. This morning it turned out that he had ordered the staff at the Luxford's home to bring him a package of macaroni across to Number street, where a fire had broken out.

Where the house is concealed or how it is handled is a mystery that the authorities would like solved.

CENTRAL MARKET

Farmers are Now Having Their Holiday Season.

Central market presented a very bare appearance this morning. There were not more than five farmers' wagons in, and the shoppers were conspicuous by their absence. At this season of the year the farmers' market takes it easy and comes in once in a while, but sometimes they have during the holiday time. This is the farmers' holiday, and many of them are taking short trips until it is time to work over more.

"A BRIDE FROM THE WILD"

"What a delightful treat you are giving us, Lord Vering!" said a bright little blonde, a schoolgirl of Kyra and Lady Mary. "This is so different from what we have been used to. We have had a glorious row! Mr. Marville has been showing us how to feather:

"And I've spoilt my dress!" exclaimed Lady Mary.

"That was when you caught a crab!" said Charlie, laughing merrily, indeed for some chancery or other Lord St. Clare had decided for lawn tennis, and had induced the girls to play.

A few minutes after the bell had rung them in, Lord St. Clare laughing boisterously and wiping the perspiration from his forehead, Kyra was flowing, radiant with beauty and flushed with the exercise.

They were almost seated, and then Kyra's eyes met Charlie's, and almost started admiration as she stood in the open doorway, tall and lithe, her hair in a pony tail, and her blouse a plain white.

"There's a place for you, Kyra," said Percy, motioning to a chair next to Charlie, which was of too footmen immensity.

"Where is Lord St. Clare?"

"Who?" retorted Lord St. Clare, turning a pair of flashing, admiring eyes on Charlie.

"By jove, I thought he was for you!" and accordingly he began to be most attentive, more especially to Kyra, who was a combination of ice and conserves, meeting with various expressions of approval from Lady Mary and the schoolgirls.

Lord St. Clare's smile was broad, all the other dishes put together.

"Don't say so, my dear children," laughed Lilian, "or you will break Lord St. Clare's heart."

"The whole thing is superb!" murmured Lady Dennis in her low, suppressed fashion, as the laudanum finished up.

All rose with her, and, laughing and linking, sauntered on the lawn.

CHAPTER XXVII.

These Marys went up to the East, of whom, by the way, she was rather afraid, and to whom, as a natural consequence in her view, was rather averse.

"I hope, Lord Percy, you will come again to our 'wild' visit," she said smiling up at him. "I promise to show us all the curiosities Mr. Marville is fond of."

"I will," said Percy. "Come along," and he led the way toward a low, oak-panelled room which ran behind the library.

Mary was entranced at the first glance.

"What a delightful room! and this is not Lord Percy? Your very own men! Don't you call it? What beautiful stained windows, and the old furniture, too! Why, it is a bit out of the middle class."

"It is almost," said Percy, smiling. "Some of the furniture was used by those old folks there!" and he pointed to portraits of a by-gone era, which were in the panelled walls.

"How delightful and perchance they step out of their frames at night, and sit on the chairs and dine—on gaudy stains—off the old tables," and, chattering gaily, heartily, she went about the room, her face aglow with pleasure.

"When are you? Let's a dark-haired, flowing gentleman! What you would call a 'warrior'!"

Kyra had turned round the room once more, and put her hand round her friend's arm, looking at the picture.

Percey went to one of the windows and drew it open.

"We went more light," he said, letting a stream of light upon the portrait of the two girls.

"How is that?" he said. "Now you can see."

Then he stopped suddenly, with his

The officials of the Foreign Office were not prepared this evening to discuss Sir Lionel Carden's transfer from Mexico City, and therefore considerably surprised themselves that the Minister of State had leaked out. It is generally understood, however, that the Government takes much the same view of the matter as the Minister, who has not been entirely discreet in handling the situation in Mexico, although he has done nothing to justify the very severe criticism levelled against him.

Nothing has been made public here as to any difference between the American naval authorities in Mexican waters and Sir Christopher Cradock, the admiral in command of the British ships there.

When it was suggested to night that the American Ambassador might

THE HAMILTON TIMES

THE TIMES PRINTING CO. LIMITED

THE PARTY POLITICIAN.

We publish a letter in another column of this issue from Mr. J. Wesley Johnson, of West Hamilton, that needs some attention. Mr. Johnson makes some rather startling statements. He questions the propriety of our advice to young men to join the Liberal Club, and ventures the assertion that no man can be true to himself, his fellow-being, and his God and belong to any political party. Mr. Johnson also invites us to drop all party affiliations and turn the Times into a non-partisan paper. To deal with the Liberal Club, we will state briefly its purpose and what it does. Its purpose is to bring together young men of Liberal views who believe that the welfare and prosperity of the country can best be served by the Liberal party. Debates and addresses are given inciting these views, and political cards and checkers are kept in the room so that a game may be obtainable at the same time. If Mr. Johnson does not object to the latter, we fail to see how he can object to the former, unless it be that he sees in the Liberal party and in Liberal principles some sinister influence that bodes no good to the country. We believe that the Liberal Club is doing good work in educating young men in the science of the proper government of the country. It may be a dismal science, but it is a very important one, and one which no young man should neglect.

Mr. Johnson asks that we turn the Times "over to the cause of freedom and equal rights." Let it be the voice of the people, not of a party. Give us an independent paper to free discussion on all matters." Party government rules in this country. The adherents of the two political parties include the large majority of the people of the electors. No other form of Government is at present possible in Canada. It must be either Liberal or Conservative. If reforms and advantages and benefits to the people are to come they must come through either one or the other of these two. No other form of Government is in sight in this country, or in any other country, unless it is despotic government. The Times recognises this, and if party government be evil, it recommends and supports the least of two evils. The Times believes that the Liberal party, by virtue of its principles and platform, is better fitted to give Canada good government than is the Tory party, and that is why it supports the former. But it also believes that the cause of freedom and equal rights is safer in its hands than in those of any other, and because it believes that the welfare of Canada depends upon the success of that party.

Were we to needlessly antagonise the Liberal party we would be merely playing into the hands of the Tory party. As an independent paper the Times could not exert the influence it does exert in behalf of good government, the cause of freedom and equal rights. Its columns are at all times open to free discussion on all matters, so that independence could not make any difference in this respect. The Liberal party is a progressive party. It is democratic in principle. The great good to be gained from its principles is that it is fighting the battle of freedom, as it has fought it in the past. It has won from the privileged classes from time to time privilege after privilege, and it is now fighting on behalf of the masses for free food. Mr. Johnson has only to look to the Liberal party in Great Britain and study the work it has been doing and study the work it has done in Canada to see that the Liberal party is engaged in the righteous work of helping and uplifting the common people. Could independence do more?

THE COMMUNITY COUNCIL.

The Community Council of Hamilton, the object of which is the betterment of conditions in this city, morally and socially, has issued a preliminary report of its preliminary and general social survey of Hamilton, which should be in the hands of every citizen. What is called the field work and also the compiling of the report were done by Mr. Bryce M. Stewart, and without endavouring everything that appears in the report, we can heartily congratulate him on it. It is full of facts and figures giving much needed information as to the conditions under which the people live here. In another column we publish some statistics that may interest our readers. The introduction to the report reads:

Canada stands to gain much from the survey. Our cities are young, and if they set about to know themselves in their youth, even if that does not last some time, they will be in a position to add still a future far more grand than anything that will come if they remain in company. The social significance of the rapid growth of industrialism, the vast influx of immigrants, the increase of population, the density of labor and of industry that have come upon us. Indeed, it is likely that in time we shall be so impressed with the importance of our survey that each large city will have its bureau of social research making that continuous study which is the only basis for intelligent action for civic betterment.

The report tells of the government of the city, its religious, political and economic life, gives figures as to organized labor and wages, the liquor problem, recreation, crime, health, charity, etc. Perhaps it is most interesting chapter is devoted to the living standards of the people. It makes some statements and gives some figures which show that a proper housing system is badly needed in this city. This is a matter which our City Council should take up in earnest, and the members of the building committee should make themselves acquainted with the information relating to unsanitary houses and over-crowding.

The report is not contented with laying bare their shortcomings, which should receive careful consideration, among them the following: Church work among the foreigners, ladies voters should be encouraged to vote, playground and indoor recreation to take the place of pool rooms and dance halls, liquor license reduction, a juvenile farm, a colony farm, a housing by-law, etc. Under various heads it shows what should be done to make the Liberal party a better city to live in. It is not the needed uplift. Progress is not always a benefit. The welfare of the community is the main consideration.

THE LOCAL OPTION FIGHT.

Although the advocates of local option in the printing of liquor licences did not make a clean sweep in a number of towns yesterday, they made a gain in seven places now put under local option, making the total number of municipalities now under that law $36, leaving still 501 under license. One feature of the contest which should be pleasing to the promoters of the measure, is the fact that of the repeat contests, only one successful, fifteen municipalities voting in favor of the adoption of local option. Local option was defeated in three-fifths of the cases, possibly for the defeat of local option in eighteen constituencies. This is something that the temperance party has to thank the present Ontario Government for.

TORIES' ONLY HOPE.

(St. John, N. B., Telegraph) Our Conservative friends can start a war scare in the United States to keep them from maintaining the existing tariff and by refusing to enter upon a new one, to avoid increasing the British preference.

Under Mr. Borden and his party, there is no hope of getting a tariff which will meet existing in the form of foreign complications. It may be expected that the Canadian government will do all the necessary for removing the tariff from food and other necessities.

LEAVE IT WITH GOVERNMENT.

(Detroit, Mich.)

The results of recent years go to show that the temperance movement is steadily growing all over the rural districts of the Province. Where local option gains a foothold it is found to stick, and to hold its own in the future.

The three-fifths clause is not a dead sword, as it requires such a vote to repeal as well as to introduce. In 1909 there were 79 Ontario municipalities where repeat contests were possible. Bar-room advocates were only able to bring in 29 contests, and they were beaten in 27 of these. In 1910 there were 111 possible repeat contests, brought in only 12, and local option was maintained in 10 of these. In 1911 there were 134 possible repeat contests. Repeat by-laws were only voted upon in three municipalities. Local option was sustained in all. In 1912 there were 175 repeat contests. In 16 municipalities the liquor interests could not muster up strength enough to bring on a contest. Fifteen places voted, and all sustained the law.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

The "wet" places are being dried up.

Gengerry is wholly dry. No rain down there.

Toronto is still short of the half-million population.

The temperance people can now see the deadly work of the three-fifths clause.

We are pleased to note that the labor delegation did not ask the Government to repeal the Lemieux Act.

We are glad to be able to state that Sir James Whitney is holding his own, and there is a possibility that he may be able to weather the storm.

We regret the defeat of Adam Cook, but are pleased to see John Pearl elected to Barton Township Council. He will now be a strong advocate for something more to do for the Mount Hamilton colony.

Judge Lennox has decided that Dominion Government officials are liable to pay income tax. Judge McGilton, of Brampton, decided otherwise. You pay your money and you take your choice.

If there must be a census to fix the committees and changes before the annual meeting of the County Council let it be a census of the whole County. It's just as easy to do the thing decently as to do it decently.

It can be seen how political bedevil municipal business. Just because the majority of members elected to the County Council happen to be Tories, the man most fitted by ability and experience, Mr. Gieseck of Ancaster, for the position, will likely have to give place to Mr. Gallagher, who happens to be a Tory. How long will people stand for that way of carrying on public business?

The Florida Metropolis, Jacksonville, Fla., has just published a booster edition of sixty pages, full of valuable information in relation to the city and the State. Editorially, it makes a statement that may cause surprise. It says: "Florida to-day has more unemployed than any other State in the Union. Of the more than 20,000,000 acres, less than ten per cent is actually in cultivation." Florida must have been overlooked in the scramble for homesteads.

DOUBTS BRITISH LIBERAL BREACH.

(New York Sun) That the breach caused by the appointment of Mr. Churchill and the withdrawal of the Liberal party will in time become serious can hardly be doubted. George and Mr. Winston Churchill may be the leaders of the opposition, but the leaders of the opposition factions, but they shew a political exodus that may be a shrewd political choice, the present moment to emphasize the fact that it is not healthy within the Government.

THE PARTY SYSTEM.

(London Advertiser)

We have not reached the ideal; but the best that we can do is to say that practical government is the party system. The party that will subordinate country to men who will subordinate country to party, liberty of thought to party, the best party man is he who, while giving up his personal opinions, retains his principles, at the same time retains and preserves the right to express his opinions and to act for himself, and is prepared to oppose every man of the party he belongs to in his personal opinions.

SKATING ON THE INLET IN THE EAST END.

Skating was in full swing, and sleighing was also in full swing.

A meeting of the executive of the East Hamilton Progressive Association was held at the home of Mr. George East on January 21. The association had to have the annual meeting of that association for the election of officers, etc., on January 22. Nominations are to be received until January 15, and the election will be held on January 21, for speachmaking by the candidates. It was also decided to have on the evening of the same one meeting of the football club, the football club, the orchestra, and the minstrel troupe. An ordinary business meeting will be held on Wednesday night.

Mr. E. R. Conron conducted last night's session in Kensington Avenue.

Mr. E. R. Conron and his wife were present and gave a hearty endorsement of the proposed skating rink.

WEST ENDERS MAKE A KICK

About Over-Crowding on the Small Street Cars.

STANLEY BAPTISTS

Storekeepers Say Money Is Coming In Better.

It might be said of Rev. H. McDermott, pastor of Stanley Avenue Baptist church, that he is one of the most earnest workers among the young people of the west end. Not only is he continually striving to help them in a spiritual way, but he also takes into consideration the very salient fact that they need a certain amount of entertainment. With this object in view he has arranged a series of events to entertain and bring the members together.

Last night the second of the series was held in the auditorium of the church, and by eight o'clock three hundred and fifty people seated seats. Gen. Clark, H. B. Devine, A. Devine, and R. Glassford, the organ quartet, were this week's guests. They sang, played the piano, and at intervals rendered excellent solos. Several numbers being of classical nature, the church charterers thought it would be a good idea to add to the evening's enjoyment.

Mr. McDermott, chairman, in a brief but interesting address, told the remainder of the entertainment was carried on successfully by Miss Florence Clark, a most brilliant harpist, George Clark, pianist, Miss Florence Clark with an organ solo, and the organ quartet playing with the left hand only, giving several violin solos. On conclusion of this excellent program, the church charterers invited the entertainers, and all trooped happily home, unanimously saying that it had been an evening to be remembered for many days.

STREET CARS CROWDED. From early expressions heard, and from the reports of the press, in the end are not getting a square deal in the matter of street cars. Before a dozen of cars were cut off, the men who had to suffer could, at least, find comfortable standing room. Now a man finds it hard to get a foot to the step, and those who have an easier line are to be seen tired girls clinging to the much-joked-of strands, and men who have been in the cars for hours, cars for the time during rush hours. As a slightly intrepid party of us went along the street last night, we saw that there was hardly anyone patronizing the cars, as many of the drivers were working less than half staff.

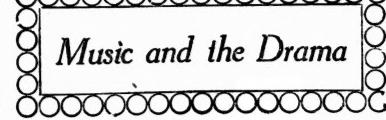

BUSINESS BETTER. Prior to the holidays, merchants in the west end complained about the amount of trade they were compelled to do, in order to continue to keep going, now they are more cheerful, claiming that their bills have been paid and the housewife has begun to increase her purchases, particularly for personal items, and looks forward to a successful year.

ICAV PAYMENTS. Very nearly every one now knows about the city bylaw which orders that the city be cleared off the sidewalk in front of houses, but they do not or they are quickly made aware of the fact by the constable. However, there are still some houses on Locke street that are a menace to public safety. One section on Locke street surrounding a vacant church lot, and another on the same street in a vacant lot on the east side of the street just below Hunter. Several officers are bound to see the police just link his eye as he passes.

EXECUTIVE MEETING. Last night the executive committee of the Twentieth Century Club met to make arrangements for another outdoor tournament, and decided that the secretary would communicate with Dundas, Retail Grocers, and several other stores, and that the game can not be arranged before Jan. 15 and the club. The committee also went into detail as to the programme for ladies' night, which will be Fri-

Music and the Drama

While the management of the Temple have declared Lillian Shaw as the special attraction of the week, the remainder of the bill is so excellent that popular opinion stamped its approval on several other acts just as emphatically. One might say that there was an over abundance of comedy, of dancing and singing nature, but in each a different phase is shown and any one of a reason is entirely eliminated. Taken all together, however, according to merit, Burham and Irwin, carried the house. The girl is good, and the man, while not original, is well up to his part. Those who like him as a comedian in the same category as Tannen, who delighted Hamiltonians last week, will be greatly pleased. He is well up to his part, and has a fund of wit and humor, that kept the audience convulsed with mirth. Assisted by the other two, he gives a good show. That is realistic, that is what I say, the lead, Lillian Shaw, was funny, is funny and always will be funny. She is a good dancer, and her voice is pleasant and fine. Her singing is good, and she stands in good stead, but minus this she is surely a splendid comedienne, though some would say that portion of her act is trivial.

The rebels under Ortega were unable to dislodge the Mexican Federal at Tampico.

A Moronay municipal candidate ran on a platform refusing the Legislative school grants.

The Oklahomans, which mask 60 miles of dirt road, carried 32 members of her crew to their death.

A delegation of labor men asked the Dominion Government to release a number of miners held in Mexico.

Evidence of lax management in the Toronto City Architect's department was before Judge Justice.

Mr. Z. A. Lash, C. G. Lester, the Inspector, urged that the municipality grant for the development of our harbor. The delegation was accorded a fair hearing and the promise of millions of dollars and the promise of ample funds available for harbor improvements, as required.

Owing to the unfortunate fact that some of the City Councils of the past had foreseen the coming importance of our harbor as one of the city's greatest assets, and the fact that the party had been acquired for the citizens and not assessing office the communally unlimited powers provided in the bylaws, the city fathers that things provide that every craft while in the harbor limits may carry certain specified lights. There is a desire to have the harbor open to the world, and to have the port of entry open to the world, and to have had to provide a revenue to enable them to carry out the heavy task imposed upon them.

MARKET VIEWS.

New York, Jan. 6.—There was little movement in the market yesterday, though there was some indication of important Supreme Court decisions. The theory of the day centered chiefly on the fact that the court would not sustain the suit against the withdrawal of the New York Central.
Commercial—The public still stays out of the market, but the buying is more active than it has been for some time past. Attention is given to the market by the brokers, who are buying in the open market, and the market is more active than it has been for some time past. The market is expected to witness a low point before the end of the week, and this will bring about a general lull.
